THE SECOND TRAIL RIDE OF 1929

WITH very fine weather conditions which favored them throughout most of their trip the long distance Trail Riders started out from Lake Louise on August 9 for the Columbia Icefield. The party, which was under the guidance of Guy Thomas, included H. G. Prevost of Montreal, Walter L. Payne of London, Eng., two artists, a packer, cook and twenty-one head of horses.

After reporting at the Game Warden's Office just north of the Canadian Pacific main line, the route taken was along the Bow Valley, the trail being quite easy. Camp was made for the first night out on the banks of the Bow River, after travelling some fifteen miles. The course of the river was followed next day and numerous fordings were made without any of the packs getting wet. The scenery was pleasantly varied and the day's ride was to a mile above Bow Lake, the going being good until the lake shore was reached, where the trail along the shore became rather indefinite, which made it advisable to take to the water at certain points. A very pleasant camp site was selected on the verge of the timber, where the riders were impressed with the great dimensions of many of the trees. The position was also advantageous for viewing the lake and the glaciers above it.

Fording South Fork, Saskatchewan River

On Sunday, August 11, the summit of Bow Pass was reached soon after 10 a.m., after which the ride was through a stretch of very interesting country where one or two moose were sighted. Away to the left Hector Lake could be seen and later the flats of the Mistaya River were reached. Camp was established a little distance farther on, and not far from the first of the Waterfowl Lakes. At this point a call was received from Game Warden La Casse, who was able to give some interesting stories of the Lewis Freeman trip to the Icefield in 1925, and in which he participated.

Shortly after leaving camp on the following morning a very fine bull moose was sighted feeding in the Upper Waterfowl Lake. He remained quite unperturbed at the approach of the party, so that every one was able to admire the magnificent beast at short range. The route for the day took the riders down to where the Mistaya River plunges in a most spectacular fashion through a great rocky chasm before joining the Saskatchewan. A new trail leads to a bridge across the Mistaya which links up with the old trail which followed the opposite bank. An hour's travelling from this point brought the party to what is apparently referred to as "Crossing Camp," on the South Fork of the Saskatchewan. A lay over of a day was made at that camp to allow for the making of a cache. Here also the weather became dull and threatening, which was greatly emphasized by the smoke which had drifted in to the valley from the southwest.

On Wednesday, August 14, the day was commenced by fording the river in easy stages about a mile above the Camp. On the other side of the river a newly cut trail leads round to a fine bridge across the North Fork of the Saskatchewan. After a spell of riding through very dense brushwood, the Saskatchewan flats were reached and a camp site chosen some two miles up the valley. Having arrived early, some members of the party decided to leave a record of their journey. A panel was cut, and one of the artists decorated it with a sketch of a Trail Rider's badge.

Thursday, August 15, was a day of great effort and experience for riders and horses as the day's travel commenced at 9.15 a.m. and concluded at 8 p.m., this being partly due to the fact that the guide was anxious about a good feeding ground. So it was that with many fordings of the Saskatchewan and Alexandra Rivers, much clambering along steep rocky trails along the river banks, many hours of riding through deep forests, that the beautiful Castleguard Falls were reached in the early evening, and a little later the last stage of the journey reached in the nature of a very long climb to the upland meadows where camp was to be pitched in close proximity to great mountains and the edge of the famous icefield. Although the party was much fatigued with the long day, the great beauty of the surroundings revived even the most drooping spirit. Through the meadow rushes the Castleguard River down a rocky bed to the falls below. Castleguard Mountain stands in a splendid isolation to all the surrounding peaks, guarding as it were the main entrance to the great field of ice and snow. On three sides the great mountain is just bare brown rock, but on the fourth it has a delicate draping of snow, running down from the highest pinnacle. Two days were spent by the party exploring, photographing and sketching, the first day Friday, August 16, the visibility being very satisfactory, but on Saturday the smoke had drifted in once more, making it impossible to see any great distance. Even a short excursion on to the icefield is rewarded with a marvellous panorama of peaks and glaciers, which gives the feeling of being away up in the secret haunts of nature, and on a windless day such as was experienced, the great silence and stillness everywhere is most impressive.

The return journey was commenced on Sunday, August 18, the same route being followed as far as the South Fork of the Saskatchewan. In the Saskatchewan Valley, an interesting incident was the meeting with Lt.-Col L. S. Amery, late Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs in the Baldwin Cabinet, just at the foot of the peak which has recently been named Mt. Amery. The Colonel was on his way to climb this mountain, accompanied by Mr. A. O. Wheeler, Hon. President of the Canadian Alpine Club, and Edward Feuz, Swiss guide, and intended afterwards to visit the Columbia Icefield

From the South Saskatchewan Crossing Camp, the homeward route was along the river to a place known as Junction Camp, opposite Wilson's Ranch. The nature of the country was very pleasing and the trail very good. Much evidence of moose and bear was seen, but the animals did not anywhere show themselves.

From Junction Camp the party turned towards the Pipestone Pass, first following generally the course of the Siffleur River, which could be seen at times away to the left. Some eighteen miles from the last camp, and in the heart of the timber, a beautiful meadow opened out from the trail. So rich was the feed that Guy Thomas decided immediately to camp there for the night. Thus a new camp site has been established in a most delightful spot that pleases both man and beast alike.

The journey on Friday, August 23, took the party over the bleak and desolate Pipestone Pass, on the other side of which snow and rain offered a chilly and damping reception. Camp was reached on the right bank of the Pipestone River in the driving rain, but when the weather cleared a little later and the clouds rolled off the peaks, a fascinating vista of mountains with mantles of fresh snow was revealed.

The following day the weather had resumed its former charm and a very enjoyable ride to Lake Louise was experienced over a route which is already known to many members of the Trail Riders Association.

"COUNTRY LIFE" COMPETITION

Reginald T. Townsend, the Editor of "Country Life in America," who kindly offered a beautiful Silver Cup to be competed for by amateur photographers who participate in the Official Trail Rides, writes that the decision as to the best photograph for 1929 will be announced in the June issue of that publication, in which the winning photograph will be reproduced as a full page. He is evidently well pleased with the quality of the prints submitted.

HINTS FOR THE ANNUAL TRAIL RIDE

By Vice-President Lt.-Col. Phil. A. Moore

The following hints are not intended for "sour doughs" or experienced riders of the trail. Such people, like Bret Harte's "Heathen Chinee," are peculiar, and to even suggest advice to them is not the intent of this screed.

The suggestions given below are just the rudiments of trail life and are mercifully short, the intent being to guide the unwary at the start of a trail which, if followed, will lead through deep woods, across sparkling streams and upward to high flower-covered meadows where life's shadows are still falling toward the West.

OUTFIT

A hat that will shed rain. Unless colored glasses are worn, often a brim to the hat is desirable especially when the sun is ahead.

A shirt—flannel or buckskin. It is sort of a relief to keep away from the much over-worn khaki. Light mackinaw, in plaids, adds color to the general scheme and is correct.

Riding breeches or the old-fashioned golf knickers with the cuff that prevents them from working up. The latter are admirable as they give more freedom to the knees. "Plus Fours" are useless as they tend to "crawl up and bunch." Overalls are preferred by many and are correct but not de rigueur as on a dude ranch.

High-laced boots are the best for all-round wear as they protect the legs from brush, snags, etc., and can easily be taken off or put on even if wet. The conventional riding boot is not so good, as often it requires all the guides to get them off at night and it must also be remembered that you have to get them on again in the morning. Puttees or leather leggings are very good and will be found comfortable also. The boots should be lightly hob-nailed as smooth soles become slippery when walking in grass or on side hills.

A coat of wool or leather for warmth and as a wind-break is necessary. Some prefer a sweater, but a garment that will protect against wind is the best.

A slicker or blanket coat—the latter is preferable and you can use it as a pillow also—that will shed rain is absolutely necessary. Be sure to have this tied on the saddle. It is no good in the pack. Of course if you are a woman there may be some Sir Walter Raleigh in the outfit, but don't overbid your hand.

A large silk handkerchief adds atmosphere to your tout ensemble and, what is more, is useful in many ways—you will find this out for yourself.

A waterproof match box. It is just as well to have this filled with matches, which should be kept as a reserve. For your daily supply carry another box. BE SURE YOU PUT OUT THE LIGHTED MATCH BEFORE YOU TOSS IT CARELESSLY AWAY. YOUR CIGARETTE END SHOULD BE TREATED IN THE SAME WAY. You are travelling in the woods and the leaves are more inflammable than the sidewalks of New York.

A knife—large pocket or hunting knife fastened to the belt.

Chaps and spurs are worn by many but are not necessary. Incidentally, these should be taken off when you are through riding. Walking around in spurs and chaps when your horse is turned out is about as sensible as wearing a buffalo coat in a Turkish bath. It is one of the by-products of the "pitchers" featured by movie stars and Montgomery-Ward cowboys.

A tin or enamel cup of large size is useful and should be carried on the saddle. It is also necessary as a toothbrush mug, as it is not trail etiquette to use the ones carried for tea and coffee.

EQUIPMENT

A sleeping bag is the best arrangement for a bed and a down bag is the best of all. A light pneumatic mattress is most comfortable for those who feel that they can afford it, especially when spruce boughs are scarce. It also saves the natural beauty of the trees.

For extras the following are suggested:—Toilet articles, extra flannel shirt, flashlight, six pocket handkerchiefs, two pairs socks or stockings and a pair of light shoes or sneakers for camp wear. Moccasins are useless as the ground is often damp.

Don't carry too much. If your extra clothing can be rolled up in your sleeping bag, so much the better. This gives you but one bag to look after. A waterproof bag to slip on over the whole kit shows the wisdom of the serpent.

ON THE TRAIL

Starting, see that your saddle blanket and saddle are perfectly adjusted. If you are not sure how this should be done, ask one of the guides.

Have your raincoat and cup tied to the saddle.

At a stop get off your horse. If you don't believe it rests him, just carry a fifty pound pack for a couple of hours and then try taking it off!

At the noonday stop or any halt of some duration, lead your horse at least ten yards from the trail. This leaves the pathway open to any riders or the pack train passing through.

On arrival in camp hand your horse over to your guide. If the guide is not there, tie the horse securely to some tree well away from the trail, the cook fire and the tenting area. The reason for this is self-evident. Take your belongings off the saddle. Try and remember your horse—his name, his number and brands. Also whether he is a pinto, brunette or blonde. This will help in getting him the following morning.

IN CAMP

Collect your sleeping bag on its arrival, take it to your tent or teepee and make up your bed. Each person should occupy the same place in the tent each night. This place can be "tossed for" the first night and is possibly the most satisfactory method of allotting bed space.

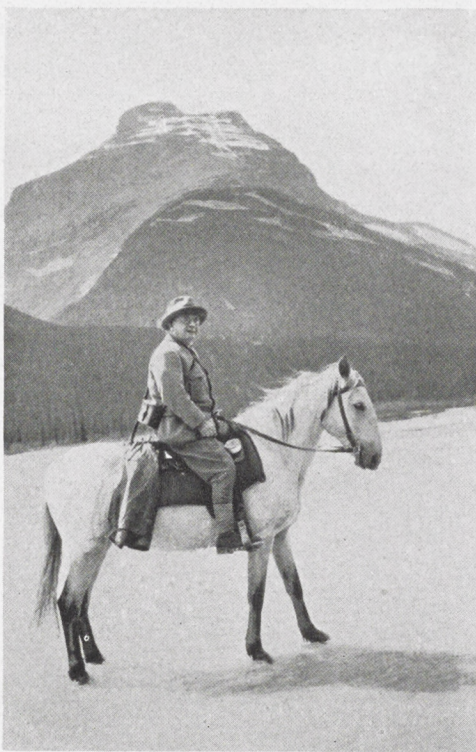

Cooks are proverbially bad-tempered and it seldom adds to their good-nature to hang around the cook fire, standing between them and what they are doing, or kicking over the coffee pot for good measure. They will let you know when it is time to "come and get it." When you hear the welcome call, equip yourself with a full kit of tools and get in line. Help yourself to the food, the milk and the sugar, move off and give someone else a chance.

Don't be "cliquey." Mix a little. You may find some interesting people and you cannot tell by the looks of a toad how much ploughed ground he has hopped over. When the "Scotch Piano" comes out, sing—or try to. The Music Master is patient, and no matter what your voice is, make him like it. Then come cocoa and sinkers. And so to bed.

ONE LAST WORD

When you go out into the hills the woods are as God left them. See to it that you leave them in the same way. Cigarette boxes, gum papers, orange peel and fragments of food should be burned or buried. This responsibility rests upon YOU. Maybe you have walked a mile for a cigarette, but this is no reason for leaving the box as a milestone to commemorate your peregrinations along what would otherwise be a charming trail.

THE MAN AND HIS MOUNTAIN

LT.-COL. L. S. AMERY
With Mount Amery in the background

Colonel L. S. Amery, celebrated English statesman, former Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs in the Baldwin government, photographed on his horse "Rat" as he was fording a shallow section of the north fork of the Alexandra river at the point where it joins the north fork of the Saskatchewan in the Canadian Rockies. In the background is seen Mount Amery, 10,940 feet in altitude, named after him by the Geographical Board of Canada. Last summer, as a relaxation from political life, he came to Canada and made an expedition to this mountain with A. O. Wheeler, veteran alpinist and honorary president of the Alpine Club of Canada, Brian Meredith, now assistant editor of "Mayfair," a Canadian magazine, and Edward Feuz, the well-known Swiss guide from Lake Louise. He succeeded in climbing the precipitous cliffs of the west face, making the first ascent of that particular peak. He is an experienced mountaineer, an old member of both the Alpine Club in Great Britain and of the Alpine Club of Canada, and he has climbed not only in the Rockies and Alps, but also in New Zealand, South Africa, and other parts of the world.
